

In boxplots the whiskers are generally defined as 1.5 times the 'box' (inter-quartile range) below the lower quartile and beyond the upper quartile. Anything outside this range is considered as an outlier.

Great! How can we use boxplots to make decision?

This is only for The Cursed Hill, we need box-plots for the rest, then I'll explain it.

Here we go:

